On behalf of the Congress Management Committee, the Australian Society for Parasitology (ASP) and the Australasian Society for Infectious Diseases (ASID), it is our immense pleasure to invite you to join us for the XIX International Congress for Tropical Medicine and Malaria (ICTMM 2016). The Congress will be held at the Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre from Sunday 18th - Thursday 22nd September 2016.

The Congress is an exciting opportunity for delegates to network and share knowledge in the areas of tropical medicine, malaria, parasitology, infectious diseases, zoonoses, veterinary health, travel medicine and more. The program will include international plenary speakers, oral presentations, posters, exhibition and social events.

We look forward to welcoming you to Brisbane.

Dr Malcolm Jones and Dr David Looke
ICTMM 2016 Co-Chairs

Program

The program will cover the major infectious diseases prevalent in the tropics, including malaria and other parasite infections, bacterial infections such as typhoid and tuberculosis, and viral infections such as HIV and dengue fever. In addition social, cultural and economic aspects of health relevant to the tropics will be covered.

The Congress program will include keynote lectures, symposia and concurrent sessions as well as poster presentations. English will be the official language of the Congress.

and most importantly – year-round pleasant weather. Brisbane is a diverse city with one of the fastest growing economies in Australia. It is a city of alluring character: from its distinctive architecture (the charming ‘Queenslanders’ and worker’s cottages that line inner-suburban streets) to its swimming beach right in the middle of the CBD.
